NO SIGN OF LID FOR LOUISVILLE.

Failure of Governor to Keep Faith Inspires Resentment

Only Holds Good in Country While it is Violated in Big Cities.

[Monday's Louisville Herald.]

Fallen into disuse has the "lid" in Louisville, and it is now apparent that the efforts of the advocates of Sunday closing will not prevail during the incumbency of the present State administration. Since the appointment of County Attorney Robert W. Bingham and Kennedy Helm, as special counsel for the State, Governor Beckham has done nothing to enforce the Sunday law.

For several weeks now the saloons have been wide open, the screens have been dispensed with and the blinds raised. With only two exceptions every saloon in Louisville was open yesterday and it is easy to see that the "old times" are back again. Even at the hotels, where the bars were screened for months after the Sunday closing movement was inaugurated, all formality is dispensed with, and one can now get drinks with meals or order them at the bar, which is wide open.

Out in the State the Sunday closing law is rigidly observed. In Owensboro, for instance, under the direction of Mayor W. M. O'Bryan, a Republican official, the "lid" is on good and strong. Several saloon keepers violated the law and they forfeited their licenses to do business and were heavily fined in the Police Court. Mayor O'Bryan says that he has experienced little trouble in enforcing the law. The same conditions exist in other Kentucky towns, including Lexington, Madisonville, Henderson and Bowling Green.

It is only in Louisville, Covington and Newport that the law is so flagrantly disregarded. During the campaign preceding the Democratic primary Gov. Beckham promised to close the saloons in Louisville on Sunday. He made this promise in all of his speeches, and thus won the support of not only the anti-liquor people, but that class of voters who favor Sunday closing.

In the State it is generally believed that the "lid" is on in Louisville, and it is only recently that the people have had their eyes open. At the Seelbach recently were two prominent Democratic politicians who had supported Beckham because of his advocacy of the Sunday closing law. They were surprised on their first Sunday in Louisville to find the saloons wide open and doing business as on week days.

"If the situation in Louisville was known to the people out in the State Gov. Beckham would be severely condemned," said one of the politicians, who comes from an anti-liquor county. "The hope for Democratic success in Kentucky next year is to wage the campaign on the platform on which Beckham was nominated. However, people will not be fools enough to take a promise next time; they will have to have results."

"It is evident now that Beckham was simply making promises during the campaign. He has had several months to show that he was sincere, and yet the saloons in Louisville are wide open. The people want the law enforced. They want the saloons closed on Sunday. If the statutes did not give the Governor ample authority, then he should have called the legislature in extraordinary session and had the law amended. The people would have supported him, but it is now apparent that he has broken faith with the people who nominated him. He wanted the nomination. He got it and is evidently now contented."

"However, the voters are yet to be heard from. The State ticket must be elected this fall. Beckham has given the Republicans an issue, and they will take advantage of it. They will raise the cry of false promises and thus arouse the voters. The Democratic ticket will be in danger of defeat, for scores of voters will scratch the ticket, believing that they are voting for Beckham, the man who proved false to his promises. Beckham believes that he is not in danger, but if the State ticket is defeated, and even though a Democratic Legislature is elected, he will not go to the Senate. No, indeed, many members of the Legislature, staunch friends of Sunday closing, will never vote for the man who threw them down after he had gotten what he wanted."

Among the Lodges.

Hartford Tent No. 99, Knights of the Maccabees, had one initiation last night at their regular meeting. Plans are being laid for good work this Spring.

Rough River Lodge No. 110, K. of P., had an interesting meeting Tuesday night, and transacted important work. The lodge ordered $100 additional funds placed at interest. Roscoe Render was installed as M. of E. for the rest of term. A committee consisting of Knights J. R. Pirtle, Sam T. Barnett and C. M. Barnett was appointed to arrange for Memorial day and program.

At the regular monthly meeting of Hartford Lodge No. 675 F. & A. M., Monday night a large attendance of the members was present, and also a number of visitors. There was work in the first and second degrees. Three applications for membership were received. The Master announced a call meeting for Saturday night to confer the Fellow Craft degree. The following committee was appointed and directed to take necessary steps to build a new hall: C. M. Crowe, C. M. Barnett, W. S. Tinsley, Rowan Holbrook and M. Bean. The committee met at Bank of Hartford Wednesday night and organized for work. It is the belief of many that the long dreamed of new hall is about to be a reality. Next first Monday night there will be work in the third degree, and a lunch.

HEAVRIN APPOINTED POSTMASTER HERE.

Will Succeed Woodberry Tinsley About the First of Next Month.

M. L. Heavrin has been appointed Postmaster for Hartford, and will probably receive his commission in time to assume charge the first of next month. Mr. Heavrin is a deserving Republican and well qualified for the position. We understand he will give his entire time to the duties of the office, but we are not advised as to who will be selected for the two clerkships.

The retiring Postmaster, Mr. Woodberry Tinsley, has held the office almost ten years, and goes out of office with a record of which he may well be proud. He is respected and loved by every man, woman and child in Hartford, regardless of politics or religious creed. He has given the patrons of the office a splendid and satisfactory administration, and no fault has ever been found with him by the department at Washington. He has also been fortunate in the selection of his assistants. All of them have been satisfactory to the public. Misses Henrietta Gunther and Edith Carson, his present clerks, are absolutely perfect in discharge of their duties to the government and in their kind and considerate treatment of the patrons at all times. While Mr. Tinsley has always been an ardent Republican and has rendered party service of the most valuable character, yet his genial disposition and consideration for the rights of those who differ with him, have made him respected and admired by Democrats and Republicans alike.

We congratulate Mr. Heavrin upon his appointment, and wish for him as satisfactory administration, to government and people, as has been enjoyed by the present incumbent.

Notes From the H. B. I.

Miss Florence Jones returned from Drakesboro Saturday, where she had been visiting her parents the past week.

Miss Verna Duke left Tuesday for Rockport to become the stenographer for the Burgess Lumber Co.

Miss Annie Griffin will go to New Castle in a few days as stenographer for Hon. H. K. Bourne. Miss Griffin's business education is based on a fine literary education and we predict for her great success in the stenographic work. We wish to thank Mr. S. A. Anderson for reporting us this vacancy at New Castle, also the lawyers of the town who have been so kind in giving these young ladies law work before going away.

This week Miss Vera Hawkins and Mr. Roscoe Render entered the work.

DENIES THAT ANY LIBEL RESULTED

From Publications Concerning Prudie Ford Suicide

Does Owensboro Messenger in Its Answer Filed Here Monday.

The Owensboro Messenger filed its answers last Monday in the libel suits, two in number, now pending in the Circuit Court here against it. These suits were filed March 28, 1906, by Messrs. J. M. DeWeese and E. M. Woodward, for alleged libelous articles published in the Messenger concerning them in connection with the suicide of Miss Prudie Ford, the beautiful school girl who drowned herself in Rough river March 22, 1906.

The documents are quite bulky, containing eighteen pages of typewritten matter and set out in detail its various publications in connection with the unfortunate tragedy. It denies that any of the articles were published with libelous intent or desire to do plaintiffs injury, or that any libel resulted therefrom which, of course, are questions for trial juries to determine. The answers close with following reference to the Messenger's editorial comment, but for which the suits would not have been brought:

"The editorial of March 25, 1906, complained of in the petition, was written by Mr. Grey Woodson, the chief editor and owner of the Owensboro Messenger. It was written in good faith, and without any purpose whatever to do plaintiff the slightest injustice. The said editorial was not directed at, and had no reference to, plaintiff. Mr. Woodson, who wrote the editorial, had been absent from the city of Owensboro, and the State of Kentucky, for a number of days prior to March 25, and only returned on the night of March 24th. He had no personal information as to the facts connected with the suicide of Miss Ford, and relied in good faith on what had been published, and believed said publications were true. He read the account of the death of Miss Ford as previously detailed in the Messenger, and believing them to be true, he wrote the editorial complained of. He did not know at the time he wrote the editorial, that the genuineness of the original letters, had ever been questioned.

The sole purpose of said editorial was to condemn the uncharitableness of the public in its criticisms in matters involving scandal. The editorial was not intended to apply, and does not apply, to plaintiff, or any other single individual, and in writing it defendant did not have plaintiff in mind and nothing in said editorial had any reference to him. The object of the editorial was to call public attention to the fact that it is a mistake to make charges against either men or women involving their character, except as such charges were sustained by positive proof, and to warn the public that it ought not to attack any importance to grave charges against men or women except as the charges were first clearly shown to be true, and to protest against the inclination, on the part of the public to cast reproach upon the character of any one except as the facts fully authorized such criticism. This was the sole purpose for which said editorial was written."

These cases are set for trial today.

Appreciates Our Mill Story.

We have had a great many nice things said about our write-up of the old Water Mill last week, all of which in our earnest endeavor to give our readers the very best county paper, we appreciate. The following, coming from a former editor of The Republican and a writer of exceptional ability as well as a good judge of what constitutes a good news paper feature, is especially appreciated.

"Editors Republican:—I note with interest your cut and write-up of an old home landmark. In the current issue of your paper. This is a move in the right direction. Local news is the meat, bread and butter of a local paper. Ohio county could furnish material for a century to come, along the lines of your mill touch-up, and make in the meantime, material for the succeeding century."

Yours truly,
J. H. THOMAS.
Narrows, Ky., March 3, 1907.

SUCCESSOR TO THE OLD HARTFORD WATER MILL.

LAST week we gave our readers a view and story of the old water mill. The above picture is a splendid representation of its successor which is situated almost a mile further down the river, at the north end of the Iron bridge. It is owned and operated by Mr. J. W. Ford, who still owns the old site, and who has manifested great public spirit in his efforts to give the people of this locality the very best in the mill line. The new mill, which stands for the "old water roller mills," was built by Mr. W. H. Mauzey under the supervision of Mr. Joseph Crandall, expert mill wright, of New Albany, Indiana. He equipped it with the latest improved machinery necessary to obtain the best flour from wheat. Its capacity is 65 barrels of flour in twenty-four hours. The elevator, which stands beside the mill, has a capacity of 10,000 bushels. The power is furnished entirely by steam generated by a 100 horse-power boiler which drives a 75 horse-power engine, putting in motion the necessary machinery for roller mills, corn mill, chop and crusher, elevator and planing mill departments, with ease. The plant gives employment to from 8 to 10 hands each day, and will greatly increase its force and output upon the completion of the M., H. & E. railroad, in the near future.

This mill has always paid the farmers higher prices for their grain than the mills in adjoining counties. —In fact above Louisville quotations.

CRIMINAL BUSINESS DWINDLING OUT

Says Prosecuting Attorney Ringo in Interview.

No Liquor Being Sold in Ohio County--Hartford is Very Dry.

Wednesday afternoon Owensboro Inquire says:

Commonwealth's Attorney Ben D. Ringo, returned from Hartford on Tuesday evening and left the next morning for Mississippi, where he went on legal business. In speaking of the criminal docket at Hartford, Mr. Ringo said it amounted practically to nothing. The little business was attended to in less than two days and the commonwealth's commissions amounted to less than $10. There was no important prosecutions and the few arrests made since the last term of court were for slight misdemeanors.

While this is discouraging from a revenue point of view to the prosecutor, it is the highest possible tribute to his and Judge Birkhead's official efficiency. By their dutiful firmness and just and prompt administration of the laws they have brought about this gratifying condition, not only in Ohio, but in Daviess and McLean and Hancock, the counties that make up their judicial district. The inquirer has called attention to this excellent work before. It is not so much a surprise as it is a contrast with the criminal record of the district under a previous prosecutor.

Mr. Ringo said in regard to local option at Hartford: "Whatever may be said or surmised as to the failure of local option in a city like Owensboro, I want to say that local option does prohibit in the country and the small towns. That is being fully demonstrated in Ohio county, and at Hartford, as I believe it is being demonstrated at many other places in Kentucky. I never saw a larger crowd at Hartford on any court day than was there last Monday. It was composed of just such men as would drink if they had the opportunity. There were litigants and witnesses and lawyers and stockmen and horse traders and every grade of backwoodsman present, and yet I saw no one drunk, or bordering on drunkenness and never thought I smelled liquor on any man. Whiskey seemed to be a dead issue there and, upon inquiring, I could not find that there were any hints or rumors that any intoxicating liquors were being sold or drunk at Hartford. The local prohibition there, evidently, is prohibitory, and the people all seem to be glad that this is true. I know, as prosecuting attorney, I am the last man to whom rumors of law violations would come from certain ones, but I am the first to whom such rumors would come from other sources, but they did not come. There certainly is more sobriety and more total abstinence, even if it be of the compulsory kind, in Ohio county, under local option than existed under the license system."

Doings of City Council.

The City Council met Wednesday night in regular session with five members present, and Mayor Williams in the Chair. After allowing several small claims, including the officers' monthly salaries, the council appointed the following committee to secure estimates from a practical civil engineer on cost of sewerage system: Mayor J. H. Williams, Councilmen Taylor and Shumnerman. The committee was directed to report at a call meeting Wednesday, March 13. The City Clerk was directed to communicate with Judge Polsgrove, of Frankfort, and notify him that final action would be taken upon his proposition to purchase the bond issue, at the next regular meeting.

SECRETARY C. HAYS TAYLOR HAS RESIGNED

Position as National Secretary of Tobacco Growers of A. S. of E.

Mr. C. Hays Taylor, national secretary of the Tobacco Growers' department of the A. S. of E., has resigned his place and will not return to Owensboro. He has accepted a place as business manager of the Co-operative Real Estate company at Washington, D. C., and has already entered into his new work there. When he left Owensboro a week ago, it was with a view to look after this position, but he then expected to return to Owensboro even if he accepted the place. However, on reaching Washington he found that the place was in urgent need of a manager and he had to go to work at once or lose the place. As it is an important one with a good salary attached, he accepted it. He had made many friends since removing the national Secretariatship to Owensboro, and his resignation is much regretted. He was a most genial gentleman and competent secretary.

The National board, consisting of Everitt and Tibbs, of Indianapolis; Stacy, of Virginia; Watson, Hanna, Davenport and Lee, of Kentucky, will meet at Central City on March 17, for the purpose of electing a successor to Mr. Taylor. In the meantime, the office will be open and all business attended to as usual. The office will probably be in charge of Mr. S. B. Lee, who is the only local member of the national directory, and who has been close to Mr. Taylor all the time.

MASS MEETING OF EQUITY MEN

Suggested by J. A. Everett Early in Spring.

To Determine What Crops Shall be Raised so That no Additional Surplus Will Accrue.

President J. A. Everett, of the American Society of Equity, has issued the following important recommendations:

In view of the gravity of certain conditions existing and relating to the agricultural industry in America,
I deem it wise to call meetings this spring, in all States possible, so that these conditions may be considered, before the 1907 crops are planted.

Only a part of the 1906 crops are selling at the minimum prices set by the society in its last annual convention. Of the others the buyers say there were raised too much and they cannot pay the prices. Also the railroad companies claim that farmers have raised such large crops that they cannot haul them to market and many of the members of the society and non-members have lost heavily by their crops damaging or rotting at home or beside the railroad tracks, because they had not anticipated
such a condition and were not prepared to properly store them.

Notwithstanding the conditions as stated in this country, we find that in Russia and China millions of people are starving or are near to the point of starvation. And there are others millions of poor people in this country and others who have not sufficient to eat, or obtain it only at great sacrifices of life, not as it comes from the farm, but as it comes from the mills, packing houses, factories and handlers. The consumers quite generally believe the farmers are responsible for the high prices, but they are not.

The government has been appealed to to correct some of these conditions, but without avail and they continue and, sad to relate, each year they grow worse.

Now, therefore, as president of the American Society of Equity, I recommend that in all States, where there is a State motto of the American Society of Equity, the president call a mass meeting of all farmers and friends of farmers to meet on or about March 21, 1907. I also request all farmers in all other States to call meetings for each of such States and I charge any members of the American Society of Equity, officers and organizers in those States to see to it that such meetings be held. At these meetings should be considered the following:

1. If it is found to be true that farmers are producing too much, which I do not believe, they should regulate their crops and acreage accordingly.

2. If it develops that farmers have produced so much that the railroads cannot carry it to market promptly, which I also doubt, they should produce less or not delay in building granaries, elevators, storage houses,
etc., at home to certain the crops.

3. Since there are countries in the world where millions of people are starving or are in danger of starvation, and other millions cannot get enough to eat or get it only at too great a sacrifice of time and money, and as our habit of dumping crops makes a surplus appear which does not exist in reality, but it operates to beat down the prices to producers, thus putting millions of our families also in distressed circumstances or prevents them from living up to the real standard of American society and citizenship.

Now since this anomalous condition can exist something is wrong with the system of distribution, and it will be for these meetings to consider the conditions and, if possible, find a remedy.

4. Inasmuch as the government has not risen to the graven necessities of the cases, and as it is evident that the demand for reforms that will bring relief comes from every State, county, city, town and farm, and from nearly every home in our beautiful land, now filled with unrest and discontent, as it perhaps never was before, I, for the American Society of Equity and all citizens who love a fair deal, recommend that the people meet as stated, take up these and other important questions, realizing the gravity of their importance and in mutual counsel adopt measures for their equitable solution.

Don't Think You are Old.
A certain amount of social life is absolutely essential to the old as well as to the young. A woman never grows so old that she ceases to enjoy the company of others, and generally the older she grows the more she enjoys it. It is always a pity to see a man fall into a state which he explains as saying, "Oh, we're getting old, and don't care for so much variety in our lives," says Woman's Life.

In the pure selfishness of his soul he always speaks of "us" and "we" as if it naturally follows that because he is getting antiquated his wife must keep pace with him in his decline.
Let him keep in touch with the world, and both he and his wife will be the better and the younger for it.

THREE-YEAR-OLD BOY READS NEWSPAPERS.

Learned the Alphabet When Only
Eleven Months Old, at Eight-

Charles Buchanan, who is 3 years old, is a prodigy, says a St. Francis-

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Buchanan, of this place. His mother was a school teacher in Vincennes before her marriage.

When only ten months old he listened intently to conversations between adults. A month later, when he heard persons talking, he interrupted them with such interrogations as "Why?" "Who?" "What?" and "When?" Soon afterward he knew the alphabet perfectly.

At the age of eighteen months he had read and memorized the Third and Second Readers used in the Illinois schools. He now reads the newspapers, and with the aid of a dictionary is able to understand all the words he sees.

He weighs thirty-two pounds, reads everything with avidity and the daily newspapers to his mother regularly at breakfast.

cially great when the greatest foes of life, diseases, find allies in the very elements as colds, influenza, catarrh, the grip, and pneumonia do in the dormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—
the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most success-

greater the exposure to the disease.
Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

3 ROLLER BANDAGES EVERY THREE HOURS.

Doctor's Orders Had to Be Disregarded By The Nurse.

When we were house doctors 15 years ago in one of the large hospitals of Boston, says a writer in the Herald of that city, one of our number was at times inclined to imbibe too freely when he had an evening free from his surgical duties. One night he came back to the hospital at 11 o'clock, and though perfectly able to walk, his brain was a bit befogged.

As was usual, he went the rounds of the wards to see if his patients were comfortable. One of them complained of pain and the doctor wrote a prescription in the "order book" for the nurse to give the patient, and then went off to bed. As was customary he made a morning visit before the arrival of the head surgeon, and as he reached the bed of the man for whom he wrote the prescription the previous evening,
the nurse said "she was very sorry, but she couldn't give the medicine as he had directed," and at the same time she handed him the order book.

The doctor was overcome, for he had written "Three roller bandages to be taken every three hours."

Where There Will be No War.

After a solemn conference between the American Commissioners and the German Commissioners negotiating on the subject, they have concluded that there will be no Tariff war if there is none. We think there will be none; not because of this negotiation, but because those of our products that Germany wants and takes she must have for her own good and for the good of nobody else. She will take them as long as she must have them.
If she could do without them she

The Farm and the Farm Boy.

"In the spring the young man's are no longer the center of his ambition.

The flat, the apartment, or the house in which he lives becomes a prison, and he longs for a dwelling away from the busy march of men; for a house on a hillside, a cabin in a clearing or a tent on a plain.

"In his mind's eye" he sees again
his boyhood home—the little brown house among the fir trees, the old red barn and the corn cribs bursting with golden treasure.

He sees the cows he watched by the roadside through the long, sunny hours, the colts he broke to ride bareback, the shepherd pup he brought home in a bag on his back and kept until old age claimed it.

Again he roams the woods for squirrel and rabbits or he bathes in the old swimming hole at the foot of the hill.

Now he is older grown and is away with a merry crew, or with his sweetheart he is "tripping the light fantastic toe" in the new, dimly lighted barn of his father's.

Then suddenly his senses become surfeited with farm life—he loathes the cows, and all of the animals have become distasteful to him; the city fever seizes him; he longs for his rush and roar and he imagines great opportunities await him there.

A young man has no chance in the country, he tells himself, and father and mother are back numbers.

In his visions he sees himself a capitalist, a magnate, a power in the land.

On the farm he might live and die in obscurity, while in the city, a young man of his caliber has large opportunities for advancement, until at last he becomes famous.

Oh, these dreams of youth, how they fade in the brilliant light of reality.

The years pass and find the country lad a broken, city-bred man, tolling incessantly.

The farm looks to him now like a haven of rest—a shelter in a time of need; but alas! the town has robbed him of his strength and vigor.

He is but a machine that begins work at the tap of a bell and quits only when the whistle blows. The tomult and noise of the city beat into his brain like a trip hammer and even though success and wealth and fame be his, they only blind him the more to humanity. The world needs him, uses him and will not let him get back to that which, in his advancing years, calls so loudly to him.

"In 1897 I had a stomach disease.
Some physicians said Dyspepsia, some consumption. One said I would not live until spring. For four years
I existed on boiled milk, soda biscuits, and doctors prescriptions. I could not digest anything I ate; then I picked up one of your Almanacs and it happened to be my life-saver.
I bought a fifty cent bottle of KODOL and the benefit I received from that bottle all the gold in Georgia could not buy. In two months I went to work, as a machinist, and in three months I was well and hearty. May you live long and prosperous."—

The above is only a sample of the great good that is daily done everywhere by Kodol for Dyspepsia. It is sold here by all druggists. m

Why Prices are Higher.

Flush times encourage reckless buying. Everybody wants the choicest goods that his money can buy. Those impulses are strengthened which urge people who ought not to afford it to show that they can live as well as somebody in better circumstances. In the case of meats alone the Armour people point out that "75 per cent of the demand is for 25 per cent of the steer"—for the finest cut.

Back of all disquieting statistics is the fact that the American people live better than they ever did before.
The advance has been constant for years. Better clothes are worn—clothes have not become proportionately so dear as food—and the standard of household comfort is greater.
This is true even in New York, where the increase of rentals, owing to local congestion, is abnormal as compared with increases elsewhere.

PREDICTIONS OF DIRE CALAMITY

If This Prophet is Correct-- Nothing Good in Sight.

There are to be Bad Crop Years
And Three Years of Cruel War.

The following predictions, taken from Dr. Mae Donald's Almanac for year 1907, are given for what they may be worth. It is claimed that the Doctor, has heretofore made some very remarkable forecasts which have come true.

In the year 1907 there will be four eclipses, two of the sun and two of the moon; and a transit of Mercury over the sun's disk.

A total eclipse of the sun, January 14th. Invisible in the U. S. A partial eclipse of the moon, January 29th, visible in northern part of the U. S. only. An annular eclipse of the sun, July 10th. Invisible in U. S. A partial eclipse of the moon July 24th-25th. The transit of Mercury over the sun's disk will be visible only in the eastern part of Maine.

Spring begins March 1st, at one hour and thirty-three minutes P. M. Summer begins June 22d, at 9 hours and 23 minutes A. M. Fall begins September 24th, at 12 hours and 9 minutes A. M. Winter begins December 22d at 6 hours and 51 minutes P. M. Mercury will be the Evening Star March 1st, June 2 7 th and Oct. 23d, Morning Star April 14th, August 12th and December 21st. Venus Morning Star until September 14th and the Evening Star the rest of the year. Jupiter will be the Evening Star until July 16th and the Morning Star the rest of the year.

The above Celestial Observations indicate that the year 1907 is ruled by Mercury; the Spring will be dry, cold and disagreeable. The summer wet. Hay and grain will rot. The Summer hot and muggy. The Fall wet, with early frosts. The Winter of 1907-8 will be mild from October 15th to December 15th, then plenty of snow and ice to February 15th. In 1907 the fruit crop will vary. In some localities abundant. In others scarce, and still in others a failure. Vine crops, hops and grapes very poor. Mice and rats very numerous. Worms scarce. Fish scarce and of very poor quality. Oysters, lobsters and all shell fish very poor. Diseases of all kinds will be cured very slowly. There will be great dangers from all contagious and epidemic diseases, especially in cattle, sheep and hogs. Sexual disorders in the human race will be more prevalent than usual. A sterile year for everything. Everybody will be guessing and everything will be a standstill. 1908 will be cold and gloomy and 1909 will be a year of terror such as will never be forgotten by the present generation. Dark visaged men will swarm the Atlantic coast and heartless healthens will devastate the Pacific coast, but they will be driven back into the sea and destroyed as so many rats and vermin.

There will be three long years of war for the United States from 1905 to 1911, with her two most powerful enemies—England, who is represented by the rose, beautiful to look at, but full of thorns, and Germany, the treacherous cat, ready to spring at the American eagle again. England is the natural and lifelong enemy, and always will be, of the United States. England always did and always will take advantage of every opportunity to ruin the States; and Germany, like a treacherous cat, will again sell her Hessians to England. It will indeed be a terrible war, with the United States matched against the two great nations of Europe. The Russian-Japanese war will have been a child's play in comparison, but with a different ending, for England and Germany will be crushed beyond recovery. England will lose her possessions in the Western world and Germany will be in helpless slavery to pay the enormous cost of the war.

"The United States, while she will suffer tremendous losses of ships and cities and great loss of life, will have gained great territory and indemnities, and, above all, the integrity of the Union. France will take advantage of the war to recover all her old time possessions from Germany, and Russia will take advantage of the war to gain possessions of territory long coveted from England and Japan."

The Yellow race (China and Japan) will also make an unsuccessful attempt to war on these United States during this time, but through diplomacy and the friendship of Russia, France and Italy they will gain nothing but the Eternal Ill will of America.

Just Forget.

"If you would increase your hap-

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and all the organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," yawning or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, "drowsy" or "rising" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver, biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

Pininess and prolong your life, forget your neighbor's faults. Forget the temptations. Forget the fault finding and give little thought to the causes that provoke it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and only remember the good points that you find in them. Forget all personal quarrels, or, histories that you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they are. Blot out, as far as possible all unpleasant things of life. They will grow large as you remember them, and constant thought of the acts of meanness or, worse still, malice, will only tend to make you more familiar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday. Start out with a clear sheet for today, and write upon it for memory's sake only those things which are lovely and lovable.

NIGHT RIDERS DUMP TOBACCO INTO RIVER.

They Roll Thirty-One Hogsheads
Of Trigg County Dumped
Tobacco Into River.

The news reached here, says a Kuttawa dispatch to the Courier-Journal, that twenty-one hogsheads of tobacco were rolled into the Cumberland river at Rockcastle, Trigg county, last night by "Night Riders."

The tobacco was fished out and recovered, but greatly damaged, says the report. The tobacco was on the river bank, for shipment to Clarksville, having been purchased by an independent firm of that city from the farmers of the Rockcastle section of Trigg county.

The association and all others are getting along well in this section. Tobacco deliveries are being made to independent buyers and the association almost every day and perfect good feeling exists among all classes. The association is making friends here and it is predicted that almost everybody will pledge the 1907 crop if good prices continue to prevail.

Rapid changes of temperature are hard on the toughest constitution.

The conductor passing from the heated inside of a trolley car to the icy temperature of the platform—the canvasser spending an hour or so in a heated building and then walking against a biting wind—know the difficulty of avoiding cold.

Scott's Emulsion strengthens the body so that it can better withstand the danger of cold from changes of temperature.

It will help you to avoid taking cold.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN BY HIMSELF.

An Autobiography Written Before
He Became President of the United States.

(This brief autobiography was written in December, 1859.)

I was born February 12, 1809, in Hardin county, Kentucky. My parents were born in Virginia of undistinguished families—second families perhaps I should say. My mother, who died in my tenth year, was of a family of the name of Hanks, some of whom now reside in Adams, some others in Macon counties, Illinois. My paternal grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, emigrated from Rockingham county, Virginia, to Kentucky about 1781 or 1782, where a year or two later he was killed by Indians, not in battle but by stealth, when he was laboring to open a farm in the west. His ancestors, who were Quakers, went to Virginia from Berks county, Pennsylvania. An effort to identify them with the New England family of the same name ended in nothing more definite than a similarity of Christian names in both families, such as Enoch, Levi, Mordecai, Solomon, Abraham and the like.

My father, at the death of his father, was but 6 years of age and he grew up literally without education. He removed from Kentucky to what is now Spencer county, Indiana, in my eighth year. We reached our new home about the time the State came into the Union. It was a wild region, with many bears and other wild animals still in the woods. There I grew up. There were some schools, so-called, but no qualification was ever required of teacher beyond "readin', writin', and cipherin'" to the rule of three. If a straggler supposed to understand Latin happened to sojourn in the neighborhood he was looked upon as a wizard. There was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education. Of course, when I came of age I did not know much. Still, somehow I could read, write and cipher to the rule of three, but that was all. I have not been to school since. The little advance I now have on this store of education I have picked up from time to time under the pressure of necessity.

I was raised to farm work, which I continued till I was 22. At 21 I came to Illinois and passed the first year in Macon county. Then I got to New Salem, at that time in Sangamon, now in Menard county, where I remained a year as a sort of clerk in a store. Then came the Black Hawk war and I was elected a captain of volunteers—success which gave me more pleasure than any I have had since. I went the campaign, was elected, ran for the Legislature the same year (1832) and was beaten—the only time I ever have been beaten by the people. The next and three succeeding biennial elections I was elected to the Legislature. I was not a candidate afterward. During this Legislative period I had studied law and removed to Springfield to practice it. In 1846 I was once elected to the Lower House of Congress. Was not a candidate for re-election. From 1849 to 1854, both inclusive, practiced law more assiduously than ever before. Always a Whig in politics and generally on the Whig electoral tickets, making active canvasses. I was losing interest in politics when the repeal of the Missouri compromise aroused me again. What I have done since then is pretty well known.

If any personal description of me is thought desirable, it may be said I am in height six feet four inches, nearly; lean in flesh, weighing on an average 180 pounds; dark complexion, with coarse black hair and gray eyes. No other marks or brands recollected.

Yours truly,
A. LINCOLN.

Blindness for City Dwellers.

In big centers of population the scientists claim that the slot machines and the moving pictures are causing big damage to the average human eye. The German oculists of note claim that by the next generation a noticeable deterioration of human vision will be found in all city dwellers, due to these things. Optical illusions they are all called by the eye scientist. This, he claims, not only has made the visions of the city man almost worthless as reliable testimony in the courts of law, but that in daily practice the oculist say the ordinary events of life are viewed with a distorted vision by the city dwellers. Although the oculists have made marvelous improvements in glasses, this seems only to have increased the need of glasses by humanity, and the best authorities now say that in 200 years practically every city dweller will wear glasses and suffer from some serious defect with his eyesight. In the German and French armies, where eyesight is always tested for purposes of getting good artillery and rifle shooting, the army doctors are in despair over the rapid progress of eye diseases.

Catarrh Cannot be Cured with Local Applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surface. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing Catarrh. Send for testimonials free.

Learning Experimentally.

We are learning by the practical service. This is more and more seen to be the best way. It doubtless is all right to have theory. In fact all must have this in some form. But still the utility is in the practice. Here we get the final test.

The chemistry of soil shows that there is much lime in it and that lime is one of the elements not likely to be exhausted by crops.

It now appears, however, that this view is not to be taken too freely. Data derived from observations at Rothamsted, England, are given to show that the fertility of many fields in that country to-day is "due to the liming and chalking that was done by the farmers of the eighteenth and earlier centuries."

The fertility from the cause stated is being exhausted by cultivation and also by the percolating drain water. "For example," says the Journal of the London Board of Agriculture, "the Rothamsted soil, which at the beginning of the nineteenth century must have contained something like a hundred tons of chalk per acre, has now less than fifty, and many other soils which started with a smaller initial stock are beginning to run dangerously short."

All over Great Britain there is evidence that much of the land, especially on the heavier soils, is in need of liming, and though it would not be wise to give the old wasted dressing of six to ten tons to the acre, a much smaller amount, or so per acre, could be profitably applied at least once in the course of each rotation."

In this statement there surely is a useful hint for all who own and cultivate land. We ought to experiment on our soils more than we do with lime.

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to contract the Panama Canal. Many are restrained however by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarious influence with Electric Bitters on hand. Cures blood poison too, biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by all druggists, 50c.

Quick changes from hot to cold and back again try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing and snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest and positive remedy contains no cocaine, mercury, nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases are cured in a short time. Now, what will the ladies do to the Senators who voted for Smoot?

China seems to care more for chicken fights than for self government.

How did it happen that the President and Senator Foraker got on the same side in the Smoot case?

Those Chicago clerks should know that it is not good form to filch the public funds, except through Congress.

The record for the Texas Legislature will contain more from Senator Bailey, this year, than the Congressional Record.

It is announced that Secretary Taft is soon to start on another trip to Cuba. Seems to us the Secretary has already exhausted the supply of Cuban gas on his Presidential boom.

In order to reassure the travelling public, it will soon be necessary for the railroads to print testimonials from those who have ridden on their trains several times and not killed.

The President's "old soldier preference" rule with reference to appointment to office, and retention in office, which he harped upon so much some two or three years ago, appears to be a dead letter, at present.

The field for a Republican candidate for Governor seems to have narrowed down to Hon. A. E. Wilson and Judge W. H. Holt. Either of them will make a good candidate, upon whom all elements should be able to unite.

We are in receipt of a letter from R. W. Brown, managing editor of the Louisville Times, requesting a picture of the old water mill which we produced last week, for use in the Times, and complimenting us upon our enterprise.

Coming from Ollie James, the proposition to reduce street car fare in Washington is absurd. Our own D. H. Smith would have some right to make a kick of that kind, but the First district Congressman should be hauled at so much per hundred.

In view of the mysterious disappearance of that $175,000 at the Chicago Sub Treasury, which was under the immediate supervision of Civil Service clerks, the Civil Service Commission should hereafter prescribe an examination of applicants for "light flingers."

We have never been very much in favor of changing the method of electing United States Senators. However, if they were elected by a direct vote of the people, it is not likely that Ohio county would have been punished for going Republican, by having her representation in the House of Representatives taken from her.

Democrats are nominating their candidates for the Legislature all over the State and the re-districting cases are still hung up in the Court of Appeals. Looks like Ohio county would have to stand being disfranchised this time. All to insure Beckham's election to the United States Senate.

Governor Beckham should send the President a letter of thanks for his kindness in removing ex-Senator Blackburn from the Kentucky political field. Now, if he could also send Dr. Powell to Panama, or some other far away and equally unhealthy clime, the Governor's cup would run over.

After abusing the Speaker of the House and President of the Senate during the entire session, for their arbitrary and unfair rulings, the members of both Houses at the close of the session, Monday, passed the usual resolutions thanking them for their "fairness" and universal "courteous treatment" extended to individual members at all times.

Is it not about time to revive Hartford's Commercial Club? If we are to get the full benefit of the impetus which the new railroad should give us, we must attract some factories to our town. We know of no better channel through which to accomplish this than a good live, active Commercial Club, and it should not be left to two or three citizens to do the work, when all are financially interested. Let us act together upon all matters affecting the growth and prosperity of Hartford.

This paper is going to stand with the people in demanding a reduction of the present burdensome tax rate. The average citizen will part with his money and remain cheerful, if he can see some return, something which will make life safer and improve his condition, and that of his children. But when he feels and knows that his tax money is to be applied to graft and to pay salaries of needless, worthless officers, it is not cheerful prospect. It is one more inclined to make him sour on his country, and unfit him for good citizenship. Taxes should be reduced, or a fund provided for improvement of our road system, and an increase of the school fund.

When the next County Union A. S. of E. has completed its labors in the immediate interests of the society, it should organize itself into a good roads convention. No class of people are more directly affected by impassable roads than the farmers. Without roads produce cannot be marketed, no matter what the price. Ohio county has been in the rear long enough in this matter. The only way to obtain a change is to make public sentiment strong, and then make it felt. This paper has enlisted for life, or "endurance of the war," on this subject, believing that it is the only salvation for a country, which is naturally as good as any on earth, but which is woefully lacking in this one particular. Where is the man, who has been compelled to travel our mud roads for the past few months, who can take issue with us in this statement?

Senator Blackburn's Good Fortune.

(Evening Post.)

At the close of his political career Senator J. C. S. Blackburn is to receive from a Republican President an executive appointment which will connect him with a great public work, with twice the salary he has received in the House or in the Senate.

It is an unexpected close to a stormy career. In politics Mr. Blackburn has been the most implacable of partisans. He has pursued his personal aims with a reckless disregard of consequences to his political associates and a thorough contempt for the rights of his opponents.

He divided the Democratic party in 1895 by refusing to stand for the indorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle, and drove it to defeat.

He kept the legislature of 1896 in riotous session for sixty days, in order to prevent an election of his own successor.

He went to Frankfort to urge the passage of the Goebel bill in 1898, and in 1899 boasted thereafter if there was any stealing it would not be done by the Republicans.

After the election of 1899 he forced a contest on the Legislature against the best judgment of his party and opposed the amendments to the Goebel law recommended by Gov. Beckham and supported by the sober judgment of the Democratic party.

He consigned to hell the whole of the Eleventh district and gloried in the extravagance of partisan denunciation and factional outrages.

Even the Democratic party tired of the verbal excesses, and the last Legislature consigned him to private life. To-day he is without political following in Kentucky. He is chiefly responsible for the divisions within the Democratic party and for the years of political disturbances from which the state is emerging under the lead of abler and more self controlling leaders. For forty years he has been in public life. He has had a fatal readiness of speech which has obstructed all effective action. In all his career there remains no work accomplished and no speech the Democratic party would not willingly see obliterated. The one watchword he has given his party is, "if there is any stealing done hereafter it will not be done by the Republicans."

Any review of the political career of Senator Blackburn must close with the remark that in all the forty years nothing was so unexpected as such an appointment for such a partisan leader coming from a President whose greatest unfinished task is the Panama canal.

The friends of the Senator will rejoice in his good fortune; the friends of the President are dumb with amazement.

Death of J. N. Sandefur.

Jasper N. Sandefur, one of the old citizens of No Creek, died suddenly yesterday morning of heart failure. He was able to be up the day before his death, although he had not been very well for some time. He was an honored, quiet citizen, whom everybody respected. His funeral will be conducted at his late residence today, at 1 o'clock p. m. by Rev. R. D. Bennett, after which the interment will take place at the Old Mill graveyard.

IN SOCIETY.

Mr. T. E. McQuary and Miss Stella Mills were quietly married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mills, of the Alexander neighborhood, last Sunday at high noon, Rev. J. A. Bennett officiating. The bride is one of the most popular young ladies in her locality, being noted for her amiable disposition and winning ways. She has, for the past few years, been identified with the school interests of Ohio county, being one of the first-class teachers, and is in every way worthy of the man of her choice. Mr. McQuary is a progressive farmer and has a nice home in the Bell's Run neighborhood. The Republican extends congratulations to these popular young people and wish them a happy and blissful future.

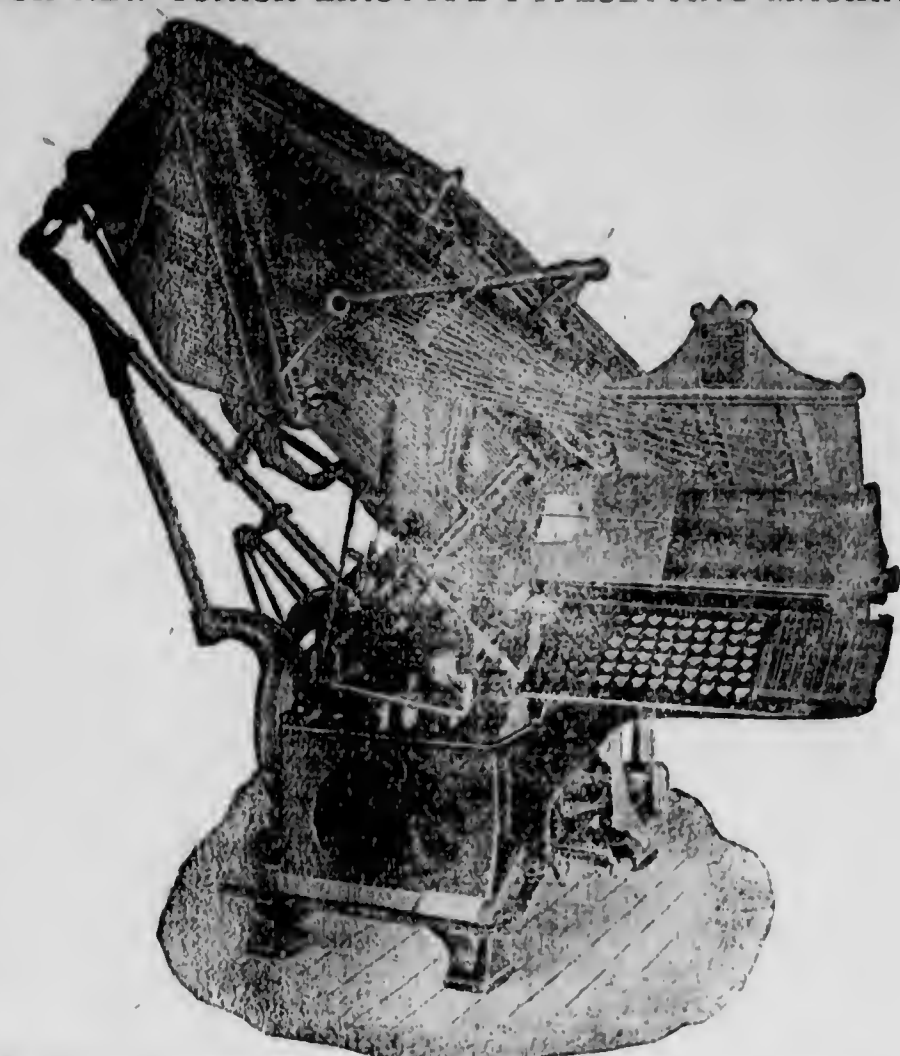

Mrs. B. B. Collins entertained a party of the younger set at her home last Friday night. Refreshments were served and the evening was most pleasantly spent. The guests present were Misses Alma Riley, Mary Marks, Sarah Keown, Isabel Fair, Lorena Saunders, Annie Keown, Elsie Matthews, Bessie Collins; Messrs. Will Riley, Conner Ford, Byron Foster, Ney Foster, Otto Martin, Oswald Hocker, Seth Riley, Douglas Felix, Allison Barnett, McHenry Holbrook, Harold Holbrook, Raymer Tinsley, Esch Thomas, Jesse Smith, Frank Foreman, Charlie Collins, Arthur Parry, Sydney Williams.

Last Friday's Grayson Gazette reports the marriage of a former Ohio county lady which will be of interest to many of our readers. It says: Yesterday at the home of the bride's uncle, the Rev. Clifford Bachman, in Hardin Co., Mr. J. Dineen, formerly of this county, now of Tennessee, and Miss Mollie Elizabeth Tinsall, of Ohio county, were married. The wedding was a very quiet one owing to the illness of the bride's mother, there being only a few near relatives present. This comes as a surprise to the many friends of both parties throughout the county and State. They left home late for Louisville and the South. The bride is the daughter of Mr. William Tinsall, of near Clinton, and one of the most widely known teachers in the State. She has been prominent in the educational work in this and adjoining counties for a number of years. Mr. Dineen is a refined and cultured gentleman, and a successful business man. They are both prominently connected. We join their many friends throughout the State in wishing them a long and happy life.

A most enjoyable entertainment was given by the Ladies' Social Club last Monday afternoon by Mrs. Z. Wayne and Mrs. Heber Williams at the home of the former. After being warmly received by the hostesses, each guest was requested to describe her name in a charming little guest book designed for the purpose. Progressive Hinch was played and each lady was presented with a dainty, hand-painted card bearing a line from Longfellow's "Psalm of Life" with which she found her partner and table. Mrs. W. H. Barnes and Miss Sophia Woerner each won every game.

A very elegant and elaborate lunch was charmingly served, after which, tiny round baskets, tied with ribbons and violets, containing mints were distributed as favors. The guests of honor were Mrs. A. D. Busdill, of Texas; Mrs. O. P. McKinney, McHenry; Mrs. C. P. Austin, Beaver Dam; Mrs. L. P. Foreman and Mrs. C. M. Barnett. Others present were: Messdames E. B. Pendleton, W. H. Barnes, J. S. Glenn, Rowan Holbrook, R. D. Walker, R. E. Lee Simmerman, W. S. Pauley, George Foreman, E. E. Birk-

OUR NEW JUNIOR LINOTYPE TYPESETTING MACHINE.

SEVERAL months ago the editors of The Republican, desiring to keep this paper abreast of the times in all things which go to make a good, live country newspaper and one which would be a credit to our town and county, as well as a source of satisfaction to our growing list of readers, began to introduce great improvements in many directions. First, we purchased and fitted up the most commodious and beautiful quarters, which are perhaps to be found in any town west of Louisville. We next added to our plant an improved Eclipse Folder, which has been described heretofore. This week we came to our readers with a Junior Linotype, a splendid piece of machinery which appears above.

The Linotype contains over 2500 parts, occupies a floor space of about 5 feet square and weighs 1200 pounds. It requires one-fourth horse-power to run it.

The assembling of the matrices, or dies, from which the letters are formed, is effected by means of a keyboard and wires leading from the keyboard to matrix escapements. The operator sits at this keyboard and presses the desired letters, which allows the matrix to escape and slide down its wire to assembling box at front of machine, each letter and character having a separate wire. When a line of these dies is assembled, it is ready to be cast into a line. The operation of the machine is entirely automatic from this point. The operator simply pulls a lever and resumes his work of setting the next line.

The line of matrices is now carried around to the metal pot and mold at rear of machine. The matrices are locked in front of the mold, the metal pot is locked up against back of mold, a plunger ascends in the metal pot, forcing the molten metal, which is heated to a temperature of 550 degrees, through the mold and into the dies of the matrices. The slug line is thus formed. Any metal adhering to the slug which would cause a discrepancy in height or thickness, is trimmed off by passing between knives as the line is delivered to the galley.

The time consumed in setting one line is about 10 seconds, which is estimated to be five times as fast as the ordinary galley set type from the case in the old way.

Between each word when the line is being assembled, the operator presses a "space key" which causes a wedge-shaped space to fall into the line. These "wedges" are driven up just before the line is cast, causing it to space out to the desired length of the newspaper line.

After the line is cast, the matrices are ready to be disassembled, which is done automatically, the line being carried by a disassembling finger to the highest point on the machine and therefrom dropped to their respective places behind the escapements, ready to be used over and over again.

Our friends and patrons are cordially invited to visit our offices and examine this wonderful little machine.

Head, J. C. Berry, S. A. Anderson, A. S. Yewell; Misses Little Marks, Margaret Marks, Mary Wedding, Carrie Woerner, Sophia Woerner, Marie Sandefur, Laura Morton, Hattie Barnett, Ida Lewis.

Mr. Marvin Mosley and Miss A. Howard, of Whitesville, were married Monday at the Court House by Rev. W. D. Nowlin. The attendants were Mrs. Delos Haynes and Mrs. Mary Wedding. Several other friends witnessed the ceremony. The young people are highly respected in the Whitesville neighborhood, where they will make their home.—Owensboro Messenger.

High Class Entertainment For Benefit of College Library.

Next Monday night Prof. W. H. Hertrich will present his highly illustrated lecture on the Birth, Life, Crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ, at College Hall. The lecture will be illustrated with moving pictures thrown on canvas by one of the very best machines, using more than two thousand feet of film.

After the lecture many special features will be given in moving pictures, consisting in side-splitting comic scenes and some very beautiful songs.

The music will consist of Solos, Quartettes, Band Music, etc.

The entertainment will be a real pleasure to all who may attend, and a good percentage of the proceeds will be appropriated toward the Library fund for the college.

Admission: Adults, 20 cents; children, 10 cents.

Public Sale.

I will on Thursday, March 14, 1907, at my farm near Matanzas, Ky., offer for sale at public outcry, all of my personal property, consisting of Horses, Cattle, Corn, Hay, Household and Kitchen Furniture, and a large line of Farming Implements. Terms made known on day of sale.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Put a bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root in your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. A sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. If it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It cures inability to hold water and swelling pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistakes, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

BUSINESS COLLEGES ARE FAILURES

In small cities and towns, because:

1. There is not a sufficient population to support a GOOD school.
2. Such schools are usually conducted by persons who are NOT qualified, or who make it a practice to travel about and de-lraud their patrons.
3. There are few if any opportunities for their graduates to secure employment in such localities.
4. The THOROUGH business colleges are allocated in the larger cities and are conducted by persons who are qualified.
5. The graduates of business colleges in small cities or towns can not secure employment in large cities when thrown in competition with the THOROUGH graduates of business schools, as business men have no time to experiment with incompetents.

Therefore, be wise. Send for the latest 68-page catalogue ever issued by a commercial school, before deciding to throw away your money for a worthless training at some cheap school.

GOLD MINES BELIEVED TO BE NEAR LOUISVILLE

Out Cropping Indicate That Ualue Veins Underlie Surface of Knobs.

(Louisville Herald.)

The development of a gold field within eight miles of Louisville is among the possibilities of the near future. George Bowers, a farmer on the Ohio river eight miles below New Albany, has procured the services of an expert miner to develop the gold prospect of the river hills on the Indiana side below the city. The advent of the expert has created great excitement in the neighborhood of the supposed gold mine, and the progress of the prospecting will be watched with eager interest.

For the past five years there has from time to time been found in the hills on the Ohio river eight miles below New Albany small veins of ore which contain tiny particles of gold. Competent experts have tested the ore and tested to the genuineness of the gold, but the precious metal exists in such small quantities that it would not pay to mine it.

Mr. Bowers, on whose farm is the most promising croppings, believes that by prospecting deep enough into the hill a profitable gold mine can be developed. The hill on which the croppings have been found slopes from the river a mile back to its summit, and it is in the south side of the hill that all of the croppings have been found.

On the Wright farm, which joins the Bowers farm, traces of gold have also been found, and it is hoped by the farmers of the vicinity that a promising gold field may be discovered. The prospecting of Mr. Bowers will be commenced at a point half a mile back from the river and about half way to the top of the hill, and shafts will be sent back penetrating to the center of the knobs.

Lost and Found.

Lost, between 9:30 p. m., yesterday and noon to-day, a bilious attack, with nausea and sick headache. This loss was occasioned by finding at all druggists drug store a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills, the guaranteed cure for biliousness, malaria and jaundice. 25c.

The Need Good Roads.

One of the greatest needs of the hour is good roads. There is no class of people that would not be benefited by them. Some people have an idea that only those are benefitted by good roads who travel them, but this is not true. Cities and towns depend for their food supply upon the farms and gardens of the country. With bad roads that supply must be drawn largely from a small scope of country immediately surrounding the town or it must be shipped in on the railroads. When the roads are bad, near the city, the supply of food is partly cut off whenever the weather is bad, because bad weather makes bad roads. If the city depends for its supply on railroads the same thing happens, because at all the county stations the supplies fall whenever the roads are out of order. The consequence is that the price of food products goes up whenever the weather is bad and the people either have to go without or pay enough more for it during these times unless he happens to be where he is able to take advantage of the shortage, but the speculator reaps a rich harvest. If the roads were all good, every farmer could always be ready to haul stuff whenever there was a demand and there would be a much steadier demand than at present. Where roads are poor farmers rush their stuff in whenever the roads get in fair condition, and they overstock the market; speculators buy at cut prices and store away in anticipation of the time when farmers will be unable to haul. The farmers sell most of his stuff on an overstocked market partly because he has a limited time in which to haul it, and as the consumer buys only as he needs it, he never takes advantage of the overloaded market but waits and buys it of the speculator when prices are away up.

A steady market and a fair price is what the farmer wants, and that is all he wants. If he knows how much to expect for a certain amount of the product of his labor, he knows how to figure on producing and marketing that amount, but where he has to guess that potatoes will be worth fifty cents a bushel and then gets only twenty-five cents he will only raise half as much the next year, and the consumer will pay seventy-five cents or a dollar a bushel in order to raise the right quantity of potatoes to keep the market fully supplied every year the farmers must organize, and that they have raised the right amount, they may be able to market it, they must have good roads so they will not be compelled to haul at any particular season of the year. Everything in the world is being reduced to a system. We no longer depend on providence altogether. The machinery of manufacture and of commerce is being perfected every day and there is no reason why the farmers should always trust to luck or to the machinations of speculators.

How much more pleasure there is, too, in traveling over good roads, either with or without a load, and how much is saved on horse flesh. In hauling produce to market, you can only haul as much as you can take over the worst part of the road. One or two mud holes on the same number of bad hills, may reduce your load to one-half what you could haul if your road was all good. If the government would spend part of the millions now spent on war and on war ships, on the making of good roads the people would gain what the ship builders would lose. The government, the State, the county and the township or district should each have its part in the building of good roads.

A cross and peevish child is not natural. There is something wrong. Usually it's the stomach. Use Cascasweet and put the stomach right, and the sunshine will return to the baby's face. Cascasweet is best for babies and children. 50 doses 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. m

Denatured Alcohol.

It is seldom indeed that the masses of the American people have been worse humbugged by any measure than they have been by the so-called denatured alcohol law, or the law removing the internal revenue tax from alcohol whose uses for beverage purposes had been entirely destroyed.

It will be remembered that 1-p-t-o Date Farming did not gush over the bill when it was a prior passage as did some of our contemporaries. On the first place, we did not believe the possibilities of denatured alcohol were so great as many claimed them to be; and, in the second place, we were sure its manufacture would be so hedged in as to make it impossible for local distilleries to produce it.

But it has turned out even worse than we feared. The rulings of the department, as we suspected would be the case, place its manufacture entirely beyond the reach of any but the richest distilleries. In the next place, the department of chemistry at Washington proves that the waste products of the farm cannot be used in the manufacture of this alcohol on account of their small percentage of alcohol and the cost of the adulterants.

Next we are informed a corporation known as the Industrial Alcohol Company, which is alleged to be a side show of the Whisky Trust, has been organized to manufacture this new product. The Distillers' Security Company, which is the whisky trust, controls virtually all the blending distilleries and there you have it.

A gentleman writing from Washington says: "The government is powerless to prevent this new and much heralded fuel from passing into the hands of a trust."

Suppose some person should say seriously the government is powerless to prevent the British government, or all the governments of Europe combined, from taking possession of the wheat crop, the corn crop, the cotton crop, or any other crop of the United States, he would be confined in an asylum as a lunatic, or imprisoned as a traitor. But that same government, it is admitted from the capital, is powerless to keep a product out of the hands of a trust.

So John D. Rockefeller will still control the gasoline, and the whisky trust, the denatured alcohol; and the waste farm products will waste all the same.

We regret this deception, because it tends to destroy the confidence people ought to have in their lawmakers.

Neither Necessary nor Desirable.

Most of the clamor for tariff removal when from time to time rises above the din and roar of the industries of the busiest people on the globe, comes either from those who expect to profit personally politically by the changes they urge. This clamor does not come from the great body of the farmers or miners, or from the men of the mills or factories, who have by far the greatest interest in Protection's results. It is assumed by a certain class of "statesmen" that periodical changes of the tariff must be made, and that a kind of popularity awaits the leader who will anticipate the coming of the next change-period and will shout the loudest and strongest for its arrival. But in the opinion of a very large majority of the American people these periodical changes are not necessary, and are very far from being desirable.—Hancock (Mich.) Journal.

A dispatch from Middlesboro, Ky., says: "Mrs. Zabrowski, wife of Pete Zabrowski, a Polish miner, at Fork Ridge, gave birth to five children, three girls and two boys. All the children are living and doing well."

WILL HE USE SET OF FALSE TEETH

Taken From Dental Parlors of Dr. H. E. Baker at Owensboro.

(Owensboro Messenger.)

The case of a man who stole a meeting house is of record. It is asserted that men do, sometimes, steal hot stoves, and thefts of banks, farms and railroads are of frequent occurrence, although the operation may be given a milder name. But it remained for a resident of Owensboro to steal a second hand set of false teeth.

The teeth were stolen from the dental parlors of Dr. H. E. Baker in the Smith building. They had been left with Dr. Baker for some changes. When the person to whom they belonged called for them, Dr. Baker found that they had been stolen. The teeth were of ordinary porcelain, with no gold or silver about them and Dr. Baker is puzzled to know what the thief expects to do with them. It is supposed that the persons who stole the teeth entered the office by means of a duplicate key.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart. Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol For Dyspepsia

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. For indigestion, dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.
I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

The Publisher's Claims Sustained

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it is, in fact, the popular Universal Dictionary, thoroughly revised in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and severer requirements of another generation. We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly revised in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained. It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the Dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the firmness in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

IS JUSTICE TO BE DEFEATED?

Hargis Case Transferred To Democratic Stronghold.

Forms of Law Employed to Clear Hargis, While Others are Employed to Convict Powers

(Louisville Herald.)

Kentucky stands against what seems to be another attempt to defeat the ends of justice. When Judge Carnes was first named to try the Hargis case doubt was widely entertained as to his fitness for judicial responsibility. All doubt is now removed. No more unfit man, perhaps, has ever sat on the judicial bench. He has acted as if one motive alone guided his purpose—that of saving the Hargis from everything harmful to very tender feelings.

He has granted a change of venue in the Hargis case to Elliott county, a rock-riddled Democratic stronghold, where the vote stood in 1904: For Parker 1,113 to 594 for Roosevelt.

The whole affair is so much like a "frame-up" that no right minded man in the State can offer for it one word of palliation or excuse.

A comparatively unknown lawyer named Carnes is appointed Special Judge in the case. From the beginning Carnes has shown a desire to give the Hargis the benefit or even more than the doubt. Now he sums up his consideration for the susceptibilities of Jim Hargis by ordering him tried at Sandy Hook, in the next county to Rowan, where W. A. Young, the Hargis attorney, resides and enjoys wide influence. Not a link in the chain appears missing. Compare the Hargis case with that of Caleb Powers. The latter has been for seven years kept in prison. He has never had a fair trial. He has been denied bail, although held on circumstantial evidence only. The Hargis has been charged in direct testimony with murder after murder. Yet forms of law are used apparently for their protection with as much zeal and emphasis as other forms of law are employed to secure the conviction of Caleb Powers. We submit the question to impartial men: Is justice to be defeated systematically in Kentucky? Is the law to make discrimination between Democrats accused of crime and Republicans so accused Jim Hargis is not, we say it to the credit of the Democratic party, held in any regard by the Democratic masses. But he seems to have a hold on the organization that is sinister and deplorable. What Kentucky calls for is one law for all. Punish the guilty, whatever their political or religious creed.

Happenings of Hartford College.
Students and teachers are preparing for the quarterly examinations of next week, which will mark the close of the third quarter. Final examinations will be given at that time in Reading and Civil Government, and at the opening of the next quarter, March 18, classes will be started in Geography, Physiology and Pedagogy.

The fact that J. H. Williams, the druggist, offers an international dictionary to the student who obtains the highest yearly average in his studies, is causing considerable interest to be taken in all examinations.

A number of students have already indicated their intention to enter either the Declamatory or the Oratorical contest. These contests will be held during commencement week, and gold medals will be given to the successful candidates.

Teachers and their pupils are busily engaged in preparing two school entertainments which will be given in April, for the purpose of raising a fund with which to purchase school libraries, apparatus, and appliances. An illustrated lecture with moving pictures will be given in College Hall next Monday evening for the benefit of the college library.

Within the past two weeks the following new students have entered school: Misses Emma Axon, Myrtle Williams, Mattie Halsey, and Bertha Westerfield, and Mr. Claude Park. Misses Axon and Williams and Mr. Park are experienced teachers.

A number of new students are expected to enter at the opening of next term, March 18th.

Mr. Ney Foster has given up his studies to accept a permanent position in Fair & Co's store. While his friends regret to see him leave school, yet they wish him success.

Miss Annie Daniel, who for the past three years has entered school immediately after closing her own, has gone home on account of poor health, to rest up.

Misses Bessie and Jessie Bailey, Alta Likens and Ruth Hammons, and Messrs. Elbert Goodale, Will Ed Ashby, Clarence Shown and John Morton visited their parents Saturday and Sunday.

The summary report of all departments of the college for February is as follows: Total yearly enrollment, 319; total number of pupils in attendance during the month, 263; number of days taught, 28; average number of pupils attending each day, 241; average number of days attended by each pupil, 17½; cases of excused tardiness, 33; cases of unexcused tardiness, 31; percentage of attendance based on enrollment, 86; per centage of attendance based on belonging, 92.

Fine Team of Mules Drowned in Green River.

A fine team of mules, owned by William Harding, of Henderson county, were accidentally drowned in Green river near the mouth of that stream, last Monday, which resulted from the breaking loose of a stake driven into the bank to be used as a brace for the vehicles.

The incline was so steep that when the stake broke loose the mules could not hold back the wagon and were washed headlong into the water. The wagon and about $12 worth of groceries were also lost. The total loss was about $425.

Little globules of sunshine that drives the clouds away. DeWitt's Little Early Risers will scatter the gloom of sick-headache and biliousness. They do not gripe or sicken. Recommended and sold here by all druggists.

A portion of the State Guard, from Lexington and Frankfort, has been ordered to Jackson during the trial of Hargis for the murder of Dr. Cox. It is believed that serious trouble may occur, unless a change of venue is granted.

United States Senator John C. Spooner, of Wisconsin, has sent his resignation to Gov. Davidson to take effect May 1. His present term will not expire until 1909, but he says he must resume his law practice. Senator Spooner has been in the Senate 16 years and is regarded as one of the strongest and most useful members.

It is officially announced that the resignation of Gov. Swettinham, of Jamaica, is now an accomplished fact and that he will leave the island as soon as he can adjust his personal affairs. His resignation is due to the insulting letter that he wrote United States Admiral Davis, refusing the aid of the American marines following the earthquake.
